Brooks is a busy place just now on account of the loganberries getting ripe. At least 300 persons are engaged in picking and besides shipping a carload of 670 crates a day and supplying other orders, about 30 tons are dried daily.

Subjects, First Baptist church: Morning, "All Dressed Up, But No Place to Go." Evening, "Is-ka-bibble." H. E. Marshall, the preacher.

Tom Willitt, the popular door man at the Globe Theatre, has returned from a two weeks' vacation trip to the eastern part of the state. Mr. Willitt also looked after property interests in that section of the state he says that the prospects are very bright for a bumper grain crop this season.

Eight cents admits father, or mother, or any of the family, to hear Dr. Gausman, the world's greatest preacher, give a masterpiece of eloquence. Salem chautauqua, beginning June 29.

The republican central committee has called a meeting at the court house for next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. All the county candidates have been asked and an invitation will be sent to all state candidates. The object of the meeting is to complete plans for the campaign.

Dr. Mendelsohn, doctor of optics, will leave Salem, July 4, and will be gone until August 1. During that time his office will be closed. If you wish to see him about your eyes or your glasses, call upon him at once. Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, rooms 210-211 U. S. National Bank building.

Salem people are especially invited to attend the elocutionary recital to be given at the Spring Valley church next Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. This entertainment will be given under the auspices of the U. E. Society. Refreshments will be served after the recital.

Series No. 9 of the Mutual Savings and Loan Association will be opened July 4th, 1914. Subscriptions for stock will be received from June 1st, 1914, at the office of the secretary, 275 State street. J. D. White, secretary.

The patching outfit recently purchased by the city has done some very good work, and South Commercial street is an example of it. Most of the worst chuck holes in that street have been repaired and the street is thereby much improved. It needed it.

The ladies of the Christian church will serve lunch and conduct a window sale during the Cherry fair.

There is a big force working in the Ryan building getting it in shape for the Cherry fair and this will be done in time to permit decorating and arranging for the occasion. The big room is more than half plastered and another day or two will see it completed. It will make an ideal place for the exhibit of the cherries and there is room for all kinds of exhibits, besides leaving plenty for the crowds that will be here to see them.

It is worth several times eight cents to see Bronte, the smartest dog in the world, do problems in arithmetic better than the average sixth grade pupil. At the Salem chautauqua, June 29 to July 4. Get season tickets now.

Alexander LaFollette, a prominent fruit grower residing near this city, is more than pleased with the output of his loganberry patch. He says that one of the employees of the Salem Fruit Union who has been working in a California packing plant handling loganberries says that the Oregon berries are superior to the California product both in size and flavor.

On the evening of the fourth day of the Salem chautauqua you can hear the famous Chirillo's Italian band accompanying the Thavie Grand Opera company, all for eight cents by the season ticket plan.

Special meeting Elks lodge. There will be a special meeting of Salem lodge No. 336, B. P. O. Elks, Monday evening, June 22nd, at 8:00 o'clock, for the purpose of conferring the initiatory degree. All members are urged to attend this meeting. M. L. Meyers, exalted ruler.

Word was received from Chester Fugh yesterday that the Ford auto which was reported by the Portland police to Sheriff Esch was Mr. Fugh's property. He said that he drove the auto to Portland and left it with a friend who promised to ship it to Astoria. Evidently the friend neglected to do so and the auto had been standing on the streets of Portland for three days when it was reported by the Portland police.

Think of the splendid investment when for eight cents, Colonel Miller can be heard in his lecture on "Farming and Being Farmed." This lecture will stimulate all kinds of business in the community, result in better roads, finer homes and better people. Get season tickets now. Salem chautauqua, June 29 to July 4.

Out of 38 general measures filed with the secretary of state only 17 have been filed. The completed petitions. As each petition must contain not less than 10,000 names, and the time for filing such completed petitions expires July 2, it will be seen that there will be a hurry-up time in the secretary's office soon. Each petition is held up, it is claimed, so that it will be the last one filed, and thus get a prominent place on the ballot.

The Non-partisan league, Fletcher, president, has filed a petition for an initiative bill providing that the governor, between January 15 and February 15, 1915, shall appoint a commission of five to draft a tax code and present the same to the legislature following that of 1915. The commission is to serve without pay, but $2,500 is appropriated to pay traveling and other incidental expenses.

Young people who are wise do not waste the summer months in idleness—they attend some such school as the Capital Business College and prepare for useful service. There is a widespread impression that one should not go to school in the summer, but it is a wrong one—a fallacy. In some ways, it is the best time to accomplish results. New classes in Stettypy and Shorthand will be commenced next week. Insure your future success, and enroll now.

Just as a bunch, before the Cherry fair gets ripe, see to it that the shade trees in front of your place are trimmed up high enough that they can be walked under without a fellow brushing all the dust out of the overhanging branches or getting feathers and hat pompons tangled in them. There are many places in the city where the limbs from the trees are somewhat of a nuisance from being allowed to grow too low and these should be attended to. You need not look out for anybody's but your own.

The National Fire Protective Association has written to the Salem Commercial club seeking the cooperation of that body in providing for a "Safe and Sound Fourth of July" in this city. As there is to be no celebration in this city and as the only formal entertainment on July 4 in Salem will be the Chautauqua which will be in session it has been suggested that the Lyceum Bureau regulate their Fourth of July program so that it will be safe and sound. The entertainers for this day have not yet been announced.

According to letters written to her husband, Dr. Harry E. Clay, of this city, Mrs. Clay, who is touring the East, believes that dear old Oregon has the only real good climate in the whole country. She informs her husband that in Emporia, Kansas, her home city, the mercury is fairly sizzling and that Old Sol is working overtime in that vicinity every day of the week. Mrs. Clay hopes to be back in Salem within a short time. She states in her letters however, that she has enjoyed her visit with her many friends and that she has had a very pleasant trip.

Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. D. C. Berton, Mrs. Kilpatrick, Mrs. L. D. Frey, Mrs. Frank Purvine, chairman of the committee in charge of the work of providing a playground for the children of North Salem report considerable interest in the project of establishing the playground on the Grant school grounds and feel assured that the funds necessary for the erection of playground materials will be in the hands of the committee in a short time. The work was started by the Parents-Teachers association of that district and the women have taken up the proposition with good success. The Cherry Fair officials have granted the association a booth at the corner of Court and Commercial street during the fair and it will be in charge of the committee who will sell home made candy for the benefit of the playground.

Attorney General Crawford this morning gave out the following opinions: The Industrial Welfare Commission was told that women employed in cigar stores conducted by hotels are subject to rule three of the commission prohibiting the employment of women at such work after 6 o'clock p. m. C. A. Spencer, of Oregon City, was informed that the bond of a school clerk should be double the amount of funds he was supposed to have come into his charge, and that if the bond was not large enough, in case of default or anything of that kind, the directors would not be personally responsible unless it appeared the bond was grossly inadequate. H. G. Starkweather was told that a plurality was sufficient to elect a school director in districts of the third class.

Loaded with about a gallon of "squirrel" whiskey and hardly able to recognize the largest building in the city without butting his head into it, J. E. Smith last evening unfortunately ran across Day Officer Jack White with the result he was taken before Police Judge Elgin this morning to face a charge of being intoxicated and disorderly on the streets. Smith told the court that he had been to Independence and had "taken on" a few more than was absolutely necessary. He pleaded guilty to the charge and the court fined him six dollars. Smith wrote out a check for the amount and left quite suddenly for his farm east of the city. A gallon jug of what could be termed whiskey but what is really gopher poison was taken away from him when he was arrested. Chief of Police Shedd coughed and snorted like a broncho that had run on to a black bear when he pulled the cork from the jug. It was like tapping a gasoline well located on a skunk farm.

Henry Miller, one of the county's oldest residents, residing between Station and Sublimity, is in the city attending court.

Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn will spend Sunday in Portland with relatives. He will return Monday morning.

Mrs. Walter H. Smith has so far recovered from her recent operation that she has been able to return to her home on Mission street, where she is residing comfortably.

South Nineteenth is the latest street to join the hard surfaced class. It has not joined yet, but is taking its first smooth, so to speak, and is just being smoothed up and given the subordinate degrees. It will be completed in a few weeks at most.

Word has been received here to the effect that Mrs. S. M. Kerron, formerly Mrs. James Walton, of this city, is now located at the Beck apartments, No. 29, San Francisco, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Kerron will make their home in San Francisco.

C. H. Drager, one of Salem's old pioneers, underwent a serious operation at his home on Eighteenth street Tuesday. Dr. Drager is the father of D. G. Drager, the republican nominee for the office of Marion county treasurer, and is one of the most widely known farmers in the valley. According to last reports, he is getting along as well as can be expected under the conditions resultant from the operation.

Walt Ship, the sporting goods merchant on North Commercial street, has entirely recovered from his injuries received several months ago by falling

CASES IN CIRCUIT COURT.

A suit for divorce was filed in the circuit court today by Leslie T. Dike against Tillie Dike on the grounds of adultery. The couple were married in Salem in March, 1903. Ernest Welch is named in the complaint. The plaintiff asks that the contract of marriage be dissolved and that the eight-year-old child of the pair remain in the custody of the maternal grandparents of the child, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Knutson, of Portland.

The suit of Drager against S. Philippi to determine the title to 15 shares of stock in the Stayton Water company is still on in department No. 2 of the circuit court. The evidence is nearly all in and will probably be concluded late this afternoon. The case will probably be taken under advisement by Judge Galloway.

This is the fifth time this case has been tried and has been long drawn out litigation over the title of the shares. It was once sent to the supreme court but sent back to the district court for another trial.

An answer in the suit of J. C. Clearwater against N. J. Haas and Emily R. Haas was filed in the circuit court today, in which it is alleged by the defendant that he has had the title to the land in question in fee simple and that the cause for the alleged action did not occur within 10 years previous to June 11, 1914. Hence, he asks that the suit be dismissed.

The silver loving cup to be shot for by four companies of the Third Battalion is on display in the window of the Brownsville Woolen Mills store today. The cup is offered by Major Carl Abrams and the first of the series of matches will be pulled off at Camp Finney rifle range tomorrow. The camp is situated on the Oregon Electric about six miles south of this city.

from a motorcycle. One of his legs was broken then but he states that while the limb is working pretty well, he dares not run a hot race or favor around very much on it yet.

Mrs. I. V. McAdoo entertained the Naami Circle of Women's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church at her home at 430 North Twenty-third street, Thursday afternoon. This was the closing meeting of the circle until September. The hostess followed out the colors of the circle, pink and green, in her decorations, and at the close of the meeting served ices also in the circle's colors.

The fire escape on the city hall is being brightened up by the members of the central fire station. Black paint on brushes wielded by some husky arms is making a great difference in the general appearance of the safety device, and the work being done by the fire ladders proves that the Salem fire department is "there" with the clean ring in several ways.

Captain Kid, the experienced searcher for drowned persons, succeeded in bringing to the surface of the Willamette river at the steamboat station, Simmons, a coat which is supposed to have been worn by Frank Butts, the man who is thought to have been drowned in the river several months ago and whose bones, it is believed, were discovered on a sandbar about 200 yards below the place where Captain Kid declares he found the coat. The expert searcher stated this afternoon that he also brought a home-made sofa pillow to the surface which is believed to have been the property of Mr. Butts. Captain Kid has not located the canoe in which Mr. Butts left the city when last seen, but he is going to make further search in hopes of finding the boat and other articles.
